J.N. Swanson
Limited Edition Prints

"Branding Corral"

An original oil painting from J.N. Swanson (1927-2014) is hard to come by. Jack just didn't turn out that many. However, high-quality signed prints, such as these, are a great value for anyone to collect—and help a very good cause. One hundred percent of the proceeds from print sales go to the Range Conservation Foundation (RCF).

J.N. Swanson's paintings are in the permanent collections of many major galleries and museums. One of his original oils hung in Ronald Reagan's White House. To aid the Range Conservation Foundation, the artist selected some of his favorite images from his personal collection. They have never before been offered as prints and are not available through galleries or any source other than this foundation.

As a constituent and supporter of RCF, which is dedicated to intelligent use of natural resources, you may purchase any print for $250 each or you can have your choice of any one of these collectible prints for every $500 tax-deductible donation.

Only 125 of each image has been produced, personally signed and numbered by the artist. Actual image sizes vary slightly to conform to the original and are printed on 24"x18" archival paper. Each includes a Certificate of Authenticity signed by the artist. Satisfaction is guaranteed. All proceeds will benefit RCF.
