

The Winners!

2020 OUTBACK ROUNDUP

With close to 300 entries from photographers in 18 states, here are the winners from our 25th annual photo contest. Judges were artist/designer/photographer John Bardwell, award-winning news photographer Marilyn Newton, and C.J. Hadley, editor/publisher of RANGE. With three different points of view, there were a few skirmishes but also some sweet agreement.

The merit award winners will appear in the Fall 2020 and Winter 2021 issues. Keep shooting and make sure you enter 2021 Outback Roundup, which will be advertised in our Fall and Winter issues, and available at rangemagazine.com in August.

5th Place

*“A Perfect Scoop Loop”
Jason Ward throws a perfect loop to neck this calf and is jerking his slack at the Riverbend Ranch branding in Kilgore, Idaho. Cole Thoreson is ready to catch the heels.*

© Skye Clark, Smoot, Wyoming

Best of Show

*“Fighting Like Cats and Dogs”
Hounds and mountain lion on the Colorado/New Mexico border.
© Chesna Smith, Raton, New Mexico*

1st Place

“Hardworking Hands”

Jason White has caught a calf for branding at Willow Springs Ranch in Oracle, Arizona.

© Cheryl Rogos, Sonoita, Arizona

2nd Place

“Worse Than Frigid”

Neighbor cows were trapped after a nasty blizzard but happily followed the feed truck home.

© Rachel Rose
LaGrange, Wyoming

4th Place

“Hello World”

Barely a week old, little filly Mabel peeks out at the world from the safety of her quarter horse mother Blondie’s side on the TP Quarter Circle ranch in Paso Robles, California.

Mabel’s sire, Junior, is a Percheron from Grass Valley. Mabel will be big.

© Tina Garfield, Silver City, New Mexico

3rd Place

“Dead Horse Point”

Overlooking the Colorado River and Canyonlands National Park in Utah, which reaches 5,900 feet.

© Fred Guthrie, Temple, Texas

